

This writing frame uses the idea of 'buttressing an opinion' in four significant ways which relate to GCSE syllabuses. Any point of view at all can be inserted. Useful for free-thinking review of key controversies and diversities, it encourages using sacred text as the basis of all connections.

The diagram is a writing frame shaped like a stylized archway. It consists of four main rectangular sections with curved top edges, arranged in two columns. The left column contains two sections: the top one is labeled 'EXPERIENCE' and the bottom one is labeled 'SOURCES OF AUTHORITY'. The right column contains two sections: the top one is labeled 'REASONS' and the bottom one is labeled 'ARGUMENTS'. A vertical line on the far right side of the frame is labeled 'MY POINT OF VIEW'. The entire structure is enclosed in a single continuous line that forms the archway's outline.
